

USC Student Affairs
Career Center

Tues, Oct 22, 2019
Noon. USC DML 240

RSVP: Zhanibek
baktygal@usc.edu

Leadership as Improvisation 3.0

By Carol J. Geffner

Leaders today are operating in tremendous uncertainty, an rapid pace of change and disruption. What do actors and leaders have in common? They need to improvise. This workshop will empower you to create positive change in work, life, your community and the world.

RSVP required. Lunch will be served.

“As you move up a hierarchical organization, you have to find your voice and learn how to use it effectively to inspire and lead others.”

Carol J. Geffner, PhD, Professor of Governance, Management and Policy, Director of the Executive Master of Leadership Program, Price School, is well known for her thought leadership and advisory work with multi-sectorial organizations on improving human and organizational performance and the capacity for sustainable success.

