Lunch with Transportation Professional Steven Mateer

Join us for lunch and a lively discussion. Learn how to navigate the exciting field of transportation planning - course work, skill sets, work environments, career paths, and more! Steven Mateer, a seasoned transportation planning professional, will share his professional experiences learned over the past 14 years to help you plan and make the best career decisions possible.

Steven's accomplishments at Metro include funding plans and strategies for several major highway and transit projects as well as leading the adoption of the Metro First/Last Mile Strategic Plan.

Steven Mateer is the Transportation Superintendent for the City of Glendora, managing the City's fleet of fixed-route and dial-a-ride vehicles, delivering active transportation projects, planning for future transportation improvements, and coordinating the region. Prior to this, Steven was a Transportation Planner and Project Manager at Los Angeles County Metropolitan Transportation Authority (Metro).
